Dear General Partridge,

Thank you very much for your letter of 8 July regarding the establishment of a CIA representative within your Intelligence Staff. We shall be pleased to assign an officer to your command and are presently in the process of selecting a suitably qualified individual. Mr. Amory will be in touch with General Taylor when we have made our choice.

The Memorandum of Understanding which you attached has my approval and, as stated in your letter, will provide the basis upon which the aforementioned position will be established.

Sincerely,

Dear Mr. Dulles:

During the past two years the question has come up from time to time as to whether or not it would be desirable to establish a CIA representative within my Intelligence Staff. This question was re-examined recently as a result of conversations between Mr. Amory of your organization and General Taylor of my staff. Based on their recommendations, it is my feeling that it would be most desirable to have a representative of your organization join my headquarters.

Attached hereto is a Memorandum of Understanding which has been worked out between Mr. Amory and General Taylor. This memorandum has my approval and if approved by you it should provide the basis upon which the position can be established.

Sincerely,
